The Cat's Meow
By Mew and Purr

At 2:30 a.m. in R.V.C.
Some genial soul threw a party.
There was laughter, and screams,
and plenty of food,
And singing of songs quite naughty.

And there we were, asleep in our beds,
And suddenly, without any warning,
Hearing the noise, we got up and dressed
All the time believing it morning!

Here's a great big bunch of orchids to the architects for the grand job they did for the Harvesters' Ball. We especially liked the beautiful murals on the far wall. Such poetic sentiment! Such realism!

There's a nasty engineer known as D.M.
He doesn't like our column.
So help us, we'll murder him yet,
That low-down, loathesome son of a gun!

❖ ❖ ❖

Please everybody! We are sadly in need of material. The only way we have of obtaining same, besides snooping through keyholes (a thing we would never, never do, of course) is to have you, our great reading public, inform us by means of fan mail, or if you know us, by telephone, of any interesting, humourous, or otherwise story. It is a grand way to get even with your enemies. Just send in a nice juicy story of how John Jones kissed the wrong girl goodnight, and revenge will be yours. (It must be true, though, of course).

ODE TO A PEBBLE

A harvester came home the other day
With knicknacks picked along the way—
He came to the "Daily" making joyous sounds,
Over an oversize pebble of seventy pounds.

The Daily-ites instantly thronged around
To see the pebble of seventy pounds—
Then there was fuss and a great to-do—
We admit we joined in too.

Then we tried lifting the ungodly rock
And then, with the awfullest, foulest luck
Down it came hurtling onto our toes—
Oh, sad was the day, and great were our woes.

The moral of our tale is plain to see—
And mind you listen all attentively—
Never, never try lifting a Harvester's stone
Or even as we, in pain you will groan.

❖ ❖ ❖

At last we have received public recognition! Our dear, dear friend, Mumbling Mick mentioned us in his last column, and what is even stranger, said something nice about us. How we love our dear friend. Mumbling Mick!!!

Funny-story No. 3.

There was a young flapper named Jane
Who while walking was caught in the rain—
She ran—almost flew,
(Her complexion did too)
And she reached home exceedingly plain.

Early Call-up Of Artsmen Is Expected

Saskatchewan President Says Move Inevitable

Saskatoon, Nov. 8.—(CUP)—Dean W. P. Thompson, acting-president of the University of Saskatchewan, said here recently that in his opinion the universities would not long be able to defend students taking courses other than the scientific and technical ones contributing directly to the war effort.

Dean Thompson expects that in a short time all students other than those taking such courses will be called up. "This is greatly to be deplored," he said, "when we think of the tremendous need there will be for economists, political scientists and other experts in social subjects in the post-war reconstruction period, but in view of the very great immediate view of men for winning the war we shouldn't try to prevent it."

Selective Service Decides.

"If we don't win the war our social experts will have nothing to say about the reconstruction period—if there is one," he continued. "The National Selective Service is the body to decide whether the immediate need outweighs the long term requirement and to apply the decision equitably in individual cases."

The acting-president's views on the importance of the arts course in wartime are not in complete accord with recent statements on the subject by university heads throughout Canada, notably Dr. S. E. Smith, President of the University of Manitoba, and D. H. J.

Labour Club Meets Tomorrow

Executive for Coming Season Will Be Elected

The Student Labour Club will hold its second open meeting in the Grill room of the McGill Union tomorrow at 8:30 p.m.. Bill Michaels, organizer for the Montreal Metal Trades Council, will be the guest speaker. His subject will be "Labour Speaks for Offensive Action," and will deal with the results of the organizational drive among the workers of Quebec war industries, and the role of the trade union movement in this war against fascism. Open discussion will follow his talk.

The executive of the club will be elected at the meeting. All club members and interested students are strongly urged to attend to choose officers for the coming year.

The Total War Program for the University as drawn up by the club in the past few weeks will be presented for consideration. The program includes the following proposals for the mobilization of the campus; a rigorous selective service program, student-staff co-operation, acceleration of all courses, and orientation of the university curriculum to suit war needs.

Around the Globe

Darlan Guest of "Allies"

It was reported from Algiers yesterday that Admiral Darlan, former head of all Vichy French forces had fallen into Allied hands, and was being entertained by the American General Staff. From this information it is hinted that Darlan may be preparing to come around to the side of the Allies. Vichy announced that 86-year-old Marshal Petain had taken over Darlan's military command.

British Now Nearing Tobruk

The British Eighth Army has chased the pathetic remnants of Rommel's Afrika Korps far across the Libyan border, having skirted the defendable Halfaya Pass and approached Tobruk which was captured by Rommel in June. All along the desert British troops have encountered dead or near dead Italians, left without food or water by their German comrades.

Germans Discontinue Russian Onslaught

The fighting along the entire Russian front has dwindled to small skirmishings in a few sectors. It is presumed that the Nazis are reorganizing for another offensive. The Russian defenders are taking advantage of the lull, however, and are re-inforcing many strategic positions, as well as continuing to machine gun German positions.

Commerce Meeting Is Postponed for One Week

The first luncheon-meeting of The Commerce Undergraduates Society, originally scheduled for Thursday, has been postponed to a week from Thursday.

At this meeting, the activities of the Society will be discussed and plans will be made for future industrial trips. Also, definite plans concerning the setting up of a bowling league will be announced. The guest speaker has, as yet, not been announced.

Both male and female students in the School of Commerce, may attend the meeting. The Executive hopes that as many Freshmen and Freshettes as possible attend this gathering so that they may meet their fellow students informally and take advantage of the future activities.

Arts Exhibit Opens Soon

Entries Accepted Next Week in Redpath Museum

It has been announced by the Committee that the Arts and Crafts Exhibition will open in the Redpath Library on November 30th. All contributions must be handed in to Miss Johannsen's office in the Redpath Museum some time between November 15th and 25th.

This exhibition is held annually and gives the staff and students of McGill University an opportunity to display their common interests. It is open to everyone connected with the University. Although every precaution is taken for the safety of the entries, the committee does not take the responsibility for the loss or the damage of any contribution. The articles submitted to the Exhibition should not have been shown in any previous McGill Arts and Crafts Display. Also, in the best interests of the Exhibition as a whole the committee finds that it must reserve the right to refuse any unsuitable material.

The entrants have a wide field to choose from. Drawings done in the mediums of pencil, linocuts and woodcuts all of these are acceptable. Photography, Sculpturing, and Crafts are some of the other categories open to the contributors. The Exhibition has been planned by the Executive "to reflect the creative spirit of the University, and to stimulate its artistic expression."

Choral Society Gathers at RVC

Dr. Staton will Conduct Choir Tomorrow at 5 p.m.

The Choral Society, under the direction of Dr. Staton, will hold a rehearsal tomorrow at 5.00 p.m. in R.V.C. Any members who have not registered as yet, and who will be unable to attend the rehearsal are requested to get in touch with a member of the executive, as Dr. Staton would like a complete list of the singers as soon as possible. Members who have not their own copies of music are asked to give in their names, in order that further copies may be ordered.

Dr. Staton is conducting the Choir this year in the absence of Mr. Anthony Chapman who left to join the R.C.A.F. Mr. Chapman himself

Assistant to the Dean.

Toronto Will Commemorate Czech Student Massacres

Czechoslovak Minister To Give Address Nov. 16

Students of Canadian universities will participate in the International Students Day, held in commemoration of the massacres of Czechoslovak students November 17, 1939. At the University of Toronto a meeting of the student body will be held on November 16. The gathering is to be addressed by Dr. F. Pavlasek, the Czechoslovak Minister to Canada.

At McGill, an open meeting, under the sponsorship of the Student's Executive Council, will be held at Moyse Hall at 5.00 p.m., November 17. The speaker will be Colonel C. Hutnik, Officer Commanding the Czechoslovak Forces in Canada. Col. Hutnik was in Praha during the massacres and later managed to escape to France and Great Britain.

The day is to be observed throughout the free world in commemoration of all students who have fallen under the German heel. A mass rally will be held in Albert Hall, London, England, and will be addressed by the British Foreign Minister, the Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden and by the President of the Czechoslovak Republic, Dr. Edouard Benes.

November 17, 1939, was a bloody culmination to a series of demonstrations in Praha. October 28, the Czechoslovak Independence Day was commemorated in Praha by public processions in 1939, despite German prohibition of them. German police shot at the crowds and street fighting developed, during which a Czech medical student was killed. His burial was not permitted until Novem-

Dance Club Plans Season

Experiments In Rhythm To Be Made

In the 1939-1940 season at McGill, the Modern Dance Club was organized by Miss Wagner when a number of students suggested studying dance composition and the art of dancing. Later in the season, the members gave a performance which demonstrated techniques of dance form, followed by a few compositions. Last year, a similar performance was held, and the proceeds were donated to the Red Cross.

This year, the advanced group held their initial meeting on October 20th in R.V.C. and on the following day, the juniors held a similar meeting. The Club intends to repeat some of last year's compositions and also to experiment with general techniques and movement. Smaller subdivisions each worked on a particular theme which is sometimes suggested by the music which is supplied by Mrs. Page.

On the list as tentatives for this year's program are variations on "Oh, Susannah", Canadian themes suggested by Canadian songs, possibly a number representing university activities, and perhaps one based on the "Jabberwocky" from "Through The Looking Glass" with choral recitation providing the background. A demonstration will be held sometime during the second term.

B.W.I. Society Elects Officers

First Meeting Features Talk on Jamaica in War

The British West Indian society held the first meeting of the current term in the Union Grill room last night. This meeting, which was the first meeting of the club open to students from outside of the islands, opened with an election of officers for the current session. After the new executive had been installed, Leo Lindo gave a talk on the effect of the war in Jamaica, and this was followed by a discussion of his views.

The slate of officers elected for the coming year consisted of the following: Leo Lindo, vice-president, Milton Macdowell, treasurer, Martin Sampath external secretary, Rupert Seemungal, publicity manager and war council representative, and Daphne Wharton, representative of the society in the coming meeting for the holding of International Students Day.

The talk, which followed the election of officers was given by Leo Lindo, a native of Panama, who has lived in Jamaica for the past ten years. His address dealt with the problems facing Jamaica as a result of the war, dealing first with

Book Exchange Will Open Today to Pay Creditors

The Book Exchange will open this morning at 9.00 a.m. to pay those people who left books at the Exchange to be sold. The Exchange will be open all morning and in the early afternoon.

In today's Daily will be found a list of those entitled to receive money from the Exchange, along with a list of creditors from the past three years who have not as yet called for their money. If after three years, this money is not called for, it will be confiscated.

To simplify matters, please bring the receipts you were given when you deposited your books.

Commerce School Votes Friday

Students to Elect Representative For Council

On Friday students in the School of Commerce will elect a representative to the Students' Council. Kevin Power and Mike Rossy, both fourth year students, will vie for the post.

Scene of the elections will be the Common Room of the Arts Building from 9.00 a.m. to 2.00 p.m. Ballot forms will be used.

A new representative must be chosen this year to replace Don Delvin, last year's representative. Delvin attended the summer school and graduated under the speed-up plan.

The present executive will also appoint a student in second year to fill the duties of secretary of the Commerce Graduate Society. Ray Affleck, who filled this position in the past, has also left school. The name of the appointment will be announced at the forthcoming election.

The results of the elections of class officers in Commerce have been announced. The fourth year

Public Speaking Classes Meet Tomorrow in R.V.C.

The Public Speaking Classes of the Women's Debating Union will be held tomorrow and Friday at 5.00 p.m. in Room 106, R.V.C.

The classes are under the experienced guidance of Mrs. Hugh Shoobridge and are planned to give basic training in public speaking. The lectures will be followed by both prepared and impromptu speeches. Though debates have been arranged with the University Women's Club and the Montreal Women's Debating Club members are under no obligation to take part in these formal debates.

The executive of the Debating Society stated that these public speaking classes will aid the students immensely, for extensive practice in speaking and debating will be given.

RVC Library Acquires One Hundred New Books

Miss V. L. Coughlin, librarian of the Royal Victoria College, has just announced that the college has recently acquired over one hundred new books. These books, which include both current fiction and non-fiction, are concerned with a variety of topics.

Making up the selection are books which deal with philosophy, psychology, religion, biography, history, geography, political and social sciences, physics, chemistry, biology, zoology, art, music, the theatre, philology, and literature.

The titles of these books may be found on page four of today's issue of the Daily.

The librarian also stated that she would welcome suggestions from the staff and the students, at any time.

UNB Seniors To Build Plant

Dr. Baird Heads Construction of New Project

Four seniors from the University of New Brunswick have been assigned the task of building an emergency power plant in the former gymnasium. The building is under the supervision of Dr. Baird, Professor of Electrical Engineering. The work was begun at the end of October, and should be completed by the first of March.

The four students are doing this service instead of writing thesis, but since very little time is given to thesis work, most of the building must be done in the student's spare time. In addition to installing the equipment they must make full reports on their proceedings and drawings to explain their methods.

When the plant is completed, the University will have power to light the laboratories and other important departments even if the general current is cut off. A large generator, which up to now has been used for purely experimental purposes, will be placed in the basement of the old gymnasium, and will join a steam engine which has already been installed, but which still needs a concrete base.

When the new gymnasium was built Dr. Baird laid out the basement of the former one as a dynamo laboratory, which makes the business of turning it into a power plant that much easier.

Cosmos Gather For Luncheon

"Cosmopolitan Montreal" Is Topic of Talk

The Cosmopolitan Club luncheon this week will be held in the Union Grill room at 1.00 p.m. tomorrow. This talk will be given by Joan Allison, and will deal with "Cosmopolitan Montreal." The luncheon next week will again be held on Wednesday as it has been in previous weeks.

This talk, which is the first to be given by a Canadian this year, is the fourth in the weekly series. The speaker will briefly trace the history of Montreal, with particular reference to the immigration of non-British and non-French minorities and of their subsequent part in the development of the character and culture of the city. After

REMEMBRANCE DAY

There will be no holiday or interruption of classes on Remembrance Day, November 11th, but the University will observe the two minutes' silence which will commence when the 11 o'clock bell rings in the various buildings.

This is in accordance with the recommendation of the Dominion Government concerning the observance of Remembrance Day.

Registrar.

Freshmen and Freshettes Meet November 18th in Union for Dinner Dance

Speakers and Skits Will Be Features of Evening

Probably for the last time they will meet as a group this session, students of first year will gather in the Union for a dinner dance on Wednesday, November 18. Dinner will be served at 6.30 p.m., and will be followed by dancing in the Ballroom. Tickets will be fifty cents each.

The men will meet in the Union Cafeteria. There will be after-dinner speakers to address them on various subjects of interest, and maybe some form of entertainment put on by the students themselves if they volunteer to do so. The women will meet in the Grill Room for a similar program.

When the dinner is finished both men and women will adjourn to the Ballroom where an orchestra will provide music for dancing throughout the evening. Again, if the Freshmen volunteer there will be skits and other forms of amusement.

Attendance Limitation

Although this dinner dance normally closes the Freshman Reception Program, and has until this year been open to all the Frosh, attendance at this event will be limited to those who are in first year, since harvesting cut so deeply into the original plans, and has postponed this event so long, that it is felt it can no longer be considered a part of Freshman activities.

Those in charge have reverted to the original formula of this event in having a dinner beforehand. Last year the innovation of a dinnerless dance was featured, and though the attendance was no smaller because of this fact, it was decided that the arrangements as made this year would prove more popular. It is to cover the cost of the dinner that students are being charged half a dollar.

The names of the after-dinner speakers will be published as soon as arrangements are complete, as will the name of the orchestra by which the music will be provided.

McGill Annual Sends Out Cry For Photographs

Free Books are Given to Students Winning Contest

By W.O.P.

"Pictures, pictures, pictures!!! Photos, photos, photos! That is the agonized wail that one hears these days issuing from the yellow-walled office in the depths of the Union. These cries of utter grief, accompanied by most awe-inspiring facial expressions of gnawing mental torture, are sent heavenward by the harrassed editorial board of "Old McGill, '43."

Knowing that on McGill's great westward trek hundreds upon hundreds of shots had been taken by her stalwart and keen-eyed sons, cameras in hand; that a wealth of pictures had been taken of the rugged and inspiring scenery of Northern Ontario and of the rolling plains, of the students on the train as they piled out at each station, of the mad rush for the lunch-counter, of the surge towards the mailbox, and finally of the students hard at work in the fields (if the fellows with the cameras could take time out for a few snaps), the Annual Board was most content and satisfied.

"Surely," the editors thought, "we'll be completely swamped with pictures of horses, cows, pigs and all the other inhabitants of the farm; with photos of the rack and pitchford, thresher and combine. We'll devote a considerable section of 'Campus Life' to this adventure

Rev. Hoogendam Address IVCF Luncheon Tomorrow

Rev. Peter Hoogendam, pastor of People's Church, will address the regular luncheon meeting of the McGill Christian Fellowship to-morrow. Mr. Hoogendam has spoken to the I.V.C.F. on more than one occasion in the past, and a member of the executive stated that "an interesting and inspiring message is expected."

The luncheon will take place in the Student House, 3445 Peel St., and wil start at 1.00 p.m. Those who wish to attend should get in touch with a member of the executive, telephone HA. 9462 or sign the list in the House before 5.00 p.m. to-day. The price of the lunch is thirty cents per person. The meeting will close in time to allow those present to attend two o'clock lectures and parades.

Historical Club Convenes Tonight

Club Members Plan Activities, Elect President

Tonight will mark the beginning of the first of a series of meetings to be held throughout the session by the Men's Historical Club. The meeting will be held at 8:15 p.m. at the home of John Patterson, 5353 Bannantyne Avenue, in Verdun. The main speaker of the evening will be Bert Applebaum, who will read a paper on "Pedro II of Brazil."

Following this, various items of business will be dealt with. The Club will elect a new president, and will also make its plans for the current college year. The members will also discuss the possibility of a meeting which would be held in conjunction with the R.V.C. Historical Club.

Also to be announced at this meeting will be the name of the student winning the annual book prize for exceptional proficiency in History, stated a member of the executive of the Club.

Our War Effort

Most McGill students are vitally interested in seeing their University promoting a vigorous and impressive "war effort". They want to do their bit. But a perplexing question arises—in what sphere is our effort to move, if a maximum contribution is to be obtained?

We must remember that our effort should be two-fold in its purpose it should be a direct contribution to the country's war effort, and at the same time should serve to justify, in the eyes of the community, our staying at college.

We must further remember that for practical purposes a money-raising war effort does not compare with an effort involving original thought and sheer physical exertion. The average citizen thinks of the college student as a carefree youth with a well-stuffed bill-fold. When we proudly announce that $800.00 has been raised to swell the students' War Fund, the public is not impressed. On the other hand, when students plan and carry out Salvage Drives, or spend a month harvesting the wheat crop, they are decidedly impressed. Let us by all means raise all the money we can —but let that be only a small part of our whole war effort.

The money we do raise should go, as directly as is possible, to the country's war effort. It should go to winning the war, not the peace. Admittedly our raising money is not going to produce a machine of war that the country would not otherwise have at the same time, it might be used to help the men who are actively engaged in winning the war, and it can serve no finer purpose than this.

To say that our war effort need pay no attention to public opinion is to overlook the basic consideration that many of us are continuing at college only at the sanction of the community. If we can show that our interest lies in winning the war, then people will more readily believe that our studies are designed to the same end.

A great step was taken in the right direction when the student body answered the government's call for harvesters. We cannot afford to sit back idly for the rest of the year, letting our contribution consist of a few dollars given to some deserving cause. We must put some life into our effort, and get on with the winning of the war.

The Bovey Shield

"To encourage and foster impromptu debating and public speaking", is the aim and purpose of the Bovey Shield contest.

This trophy was presented by Col. Bovey and has a very commendable purpose, for individual expression in public is an asset that cannot be overrated. We are often too confident in our latent ability in speaking, and consider it unnecessary to have any training in this art practised since the dawn of civilization.

Many an aspiring statesman has met his downfall because of his inability to speak in public; many an embryo teacher has failed because he could not express himself clearly and concisely to his class of listeners.

The Debating Union society has announced the date of the contest for the sixteenth or seventeenth of November, and we cannot impress too greatly on the freshman the desirability of entering. It is interesting to note that many of the best debaters who graduated from McGill in recent years have had their debut speaking in this contest.

Only freshmen or those at McGill for the first time are eligible to compete and it is to them that we strongly recommend competing for the highest honour given to the Freshmen in debating and public speaking.

Paddy
By T.N.T.

A new column about R. Rabbit McMouse is a mild and inoffensive looking little artsman, who reads the "Daily" during lectures (just like you). Unfortunately, he believes all he reads in it.

R. Rabbit McMouse, better known as Paddy, ambled jauntily down the steps of the Union. He was feeling good, having beaten his most redoubtable enemy at poker, and having consumed a couple of bottles of gin in the process.

Adjusting his hat at a more rakish angle, and determined to find congenial amusement, he set off along Sherbrooke Street at a good speed, managing to avoid at least one lamppost in three. Conjuring up vivid dreams of the good time he was going to have, he wandered absentmindedly along, but before very long, he found a very sturdy door barring his way. He sat down to think it over, overbalanced, and rolled down a flight of stone stairs.

After ascertaining that he had broken no bones, he climbed up the stairs and examined the door more carefully. After a few minutes of meticulous study, he assured himself that it was the library entrance. Then he proceeded to account for his being in his present location, and became so heated that he burst forth in a loud voice:

"Why did I ever study arts, so that I go to the library instead of to the Peel? Why did I ever bother with the $%&& £&%$ $"!% library? Why in &$%$. . ."

At this point he was rudely interrupted by the ominous noise of a dozen or so windows being opened, a corresponding number of night-capped heads appearing, with, in addition, a large head exhibiting a ruddy countenance, topped off by a mop of flaxen curls, and then a great number of voices saying "Hold thy peace, young man. What aileth thee?"

At the awe-ful sight of the sleepy-eyed inmates of Presbyterian College, Paddy took fright and bolted down McTavish Street. Opposite the tennis courts he collided with a friendly tree, and remained leaning on it to regain his breath. After he had rested himself a while, his eyes lit up with a strangely intelligent gleam, and he departed from thence with a firm and resolute gait, which continued unabated until he reached his destination on Peel Street.

Three hours later he emerged, and was astounded to observe that no less than four streets confronted him. Somehow, he selected the right one, and found himself on Sherbrooke Street. Turning to the left he beheld a remarkable sight. It was a gorgeous sight. In fact, it was a stupendous sight. Two maidens of exquisite beauty, covered with gleaming jewelry, were approaching him.

He was quite sure that he had never seen such exquisite grace, or such shapely legs, delicately covered with knee length socks. He resolved that he would attempt to make an acquaintance with them, and had even decided to say "Pardon me, etc." when he lost his nerve.

As they approached, he decided to slip inconspicuously between them, but in doing so he encountered some opposition. He bumped into something hard. He saw a brass button a few inches in front of his eyes. Looking down, he saw a pair of hairy legs surrounded by a kilt. Looking up, he saw and recognised the stern countenance of one of the C.O.T.C. officers.

Permit the savage, disastrous rumour;
Since, touching the bone
Of each man's humour,
For men astigmatic, prone,

Illusionless and plain,
Stark, individual as pain.

And irritant as an alien's tread
Behind our own,
He gives the vital and the dead
An implacable moan;
Seeing in all our indifferent glory
An old, disfigured story
Where the surest backwards grope
From rotted moorings hurled,
Tumbled and thrown
Upon a beggared Europe,
A beggared, buried world.

Whose bodies anticipate no maim,
Creep forward slyly upon their knees
For that tomorrow to clutch sans blame
A Swabian's throat with final ease:

A Commerce Man Looks at the West
by M.R.

Much has already been said and written about the success and failure of the McGill Western Harvesting Expedition. The majority of harvesters agree that on the whole the trip to the West was a success, while there are a few students, who for one reason or another could not keep their work, claim that the venture was an absolute failure. It is not the aim of this column to present the different points of view on this matter and then try to offer a decision, but rather to tell easterners something about the conditions and problems existing in the west and how the western farmer has had to face them.

The Western Farm

The first thing that strikes anyone going out to the west for the first time is the size of the prairie farms. Out there the ordinary size of a farm is approximately two square miles, whereas a farm of this size in Quebec would be considered as quite large.

On the western farm one would expect to find modern mechanization of farm equipment. To our great surprise, however, the west is not very much advanced in this respect. Instead of the modern combine, we find the usual thresher instead of the latest tractor, we find an unwilling team of horses.

Co-op Elevators

The Saskatchewan government has developed a system of co-operation among its farmers. These co-operative enterprises exist in many fields and industries, including the co-operative grain elevators which one sees all over the prairie country-side. These elevators are sponsored by the government to enable the farmer to get the best possible price for his wheat. In its organization, the co-operative system is similar to that of the modern corporation. A farmer can buy shares in the co-operation and at the end of the year if the co-op has a surplus, this profit is divided among its members.

The co-operative systems are well liked and have the support of the majority of farmers. There are those of course who do not support them, but it seems that these co-operative elevators are a very necessary part of our wheat lands. Running in competition with the privately owned elevators, the co-ops thus help to prevent any cheating in the grading, weighing, and pricing of the grain.

War Problems

The war and government control have brought along many troubles and worries to the western farmer. The first of these, of which we now know something, is the great labour shortage.

A further problem is brought about by the rationing of the amounts of grain that can be sold by the farmer. Only seven bushels per acre can now be sold. With this year's bumper crop, this presents the farmer with more difficulties. He has been waiting for such a crop for the last ten years and when it comes he cannot sell it. Instead he has to spend money building granaries, or, if he is not able to do this, pile the grain out in the open.

Many farmers have been hit hard by this ruling. Those whose only income is from grain did not get enough money out of what they sold to pay their threshing expenses. The farmer is patient, however. He is hoping and waiting that before long the government will relax this order when he will be able to sell his grain and thereby enjoy his only decent crop in the last ten years.

In order to avoid the disadvantage of one crop farming, the prairie farmer is turning more and more into mixed farming. This is especially noticeable in Southern Saskatchewan, where the growing of flax has been taken up by most farmers. Cattle and hog raising is also being encouraged by the government, and westerners have responded enthusiastically. A little fowl and dairy work is carried on, but as yet this is not being done on any extensive scale.

Unlike the Quebec farmer, the prairie man likes to educate his children as much as possible. Here the war has also shown its effects. Many young boys, who under ordinary circumstances would still be in school, have had to quit in order to help carry on the farm work.

Western Farmer

To consider the western farmer himself, we find that he is as hospitable and as courteous

On The War Council Registration.

To the Editor,
The McGill Daily.

Dear Sir, — There is one small error that appeared in yesterday's Daily that I would like to clear up. In the leading story, dealing with the first War Council meeting, I was quoted as advocating the registration of students for volunteer war work, on the same basis as last year.

This is not quite accurate: I did call for the registration of students for war work, but not on the same basis as last year. Then, the war council did the best job that it could, registration for different purposes becoming necessary at different times throughout the year. This year, from past experience, we know exactly what we will need in the way of volunteers for war work, and we know the most effective methods of obtaining them.

For these reasons, I believe that it is essential to have a student registration, covering all phases of the war effort (except possibly the Blood Donors, who may use special Red Cross registration cards). This registration should all be done on one card and handled by one committee. This would avoid the confusion of competition between different groups for the use of a volunteer, and would prevent the resultant unequal distribution of effort among volunteers. Also this registration should reach every student, and should take place as soon as possible. I shall not go into details here; that is the job for the War Council executive group.

Yours faithfully
PETER HALL.

Red Pucksters Tune Up For Defence Loop Debut

Herb Owen Returns to Bolster Defence

FLASHY NETMINDER

ROSS RITCHIE, McGill's great goalie, who will see action on Friday night.

This afternoon at the Forum, Dr. Bobby Bell will apply the final touches to his 1942 McGill entry in the National Defence Hockey League, before the opening game, which is two days off. The Redmen will present a very strong line-up which has very recently been bolstered by the return to active duty of the well-known defence star, Herb Owen.

Owen, who completed his final year of medicine at McGill last year, had played for several years on intercollegiate teams prior to the outbreak of war, and subsequently became one of the bulwarks of the Intramural league. Teamed with Bruce Ward, the hardhitting blond has been a star in every exhibition game in which the Redmen have participated. He is now interning at the Western Hospital, while still attending lectures at the University.

PLAY NIGHT CAP

The collegians will make their debut against the Air Force in the nightcap of the doubleheader Friday night, and nearly the entire student body will co-operate in the grand opening. In addition to the parade of the full contingent of the McGill C.O.T.C., accompanied by two bands, and the U.A.T.C., the R.V.C. Red Cross Corps will participate in the parade to the Forum.

The McGill squad will probably have the strongest defensive combination in the loop. Ross Ritchie, guarding the twine needs no introduction, as his netminding feats have bee in the public eye throughout his career in the High School League, the Junior and Senior Quebec Amateur Hockey Associations, and in McGill exhibition games. In front of him, he will have the same pair that guarded the blueline for him during the past two years, Bruce Ward and Herb Owen. Ward has also been among the stars of the city leagues during recent years. Vin Young is the other experienced defenceman.

Up front, Bud Farmer will centre the speed line, with Bob Blair and Costigan patrolling the wings. Farmer is one of the smoothest centres in amateur circles and a great playmaker and defensive player. Bob Blair returns to play hockey in his native Montreal, after a couple of years at Clarkson College. He faced the Redmen in the exhibition encounter last year.

VETERAN LINE

Three veterans, two intercollegiate competition, will form another stalwart line. Bill Macdonald will play centre, flanked by Tommy Hale and Bruce Crutchfield. This is a fighting line with plenty of speed and scoring ability.

The other line will have Dick Lockwood, Ross Nicholson and Humphries, all newcomers. Willis, Hylands and Gagnon are fighting it out for the remaining defence post. Spiller is out after a forward position on the third line.

HOMECOMING FOR BELL

The opening game will be a homecoming for Dr. Bobby Bell to McGill competition, as it is a homecoming for his team to intra-city competition. For many years his squads had been topnotch in hockey circles, and this year he has certainly gathered a strong aggregate.

The first game of Fridays bill will begin at 8.00 p.m. and the parade lines up at 6.45 p.m.

INTERLUDE

The room was blurred.
So was the crowd and the voice of the small girl beside him.
Someone said, "Dance?"
He shook his head; he stumbled to a door . . .
"For air," he rasped.
Laughter rose; the beat of the trombone destroyed his thoughts; someone dropped a glass.
Security and silence vanished;
there was only the pain
over his eyes and the hand that clung to his so despairingly.
Aeons distant, "Auld Lang Syne" was being sobbed out—
the fellow's tune was wrong.
"Coffee?" a voice urged. His teeth were chattering so hard he could not answer.
Those soothing voices only irritated him; his hands were cold.

In the morning, clutching an alarm clock and a cold hot water bottle, he regretted his midnight feast of apple pie and cheese.

Intercoy Softball League To Play Semi-Finals

With the completion of the preliminary series yesterday, the Softball League has now entered its semi-final stage, four teams playing off for the privilege of being in the finals. Among these teams, "E" Company managed to score the most points, and led the way in the preliminaries with a total of 30. Three other teams tied for second honors, gaining 25 points each. These teams represented "B" Company, "D" Company, and the U.A.T.C.

The semi-final games will be of seven inning duration and a death battle is in line for the four teams. The two teams fortunate enough to survive are scheduled to meet next week to decide to whom the laurels shall fall in the Inter-Company Championship.

Other teams which were fairly successful, but not quite enough so are those which represented "A" Company and "F" Company. These scored 20 points each. Among those teams eliminated were "C" Company, and Med. 2, which scored 15 points each, and the Dentistry Team in the cellar with a total of 5 points.

The semi-finals get under way this evening at 5.15 in the Gymnasium when "D" Company meets "B". The last game of this series will be played on Monday November 16 at the same time between "E" Company and the U.A.T.C.

The two winners are scheduled to meet on Wed. Nov. 18 and the final kudos is to go to the winner of the first two out of three games.

After an Inter-Company Championship Team is declared, there will be a short two out of three series between the McGill Team and the R.C.A.F. Detachment located at McGill.

The March of Sport
by Allan

For the first time in three years, a McGill football team will have something to fight for. Their series with the best teams that Montreal has produced this year, will be rounded out on Saturday, when they face the Verdun Grads, present pacesetters in the Q.R.F.U. Decisive victories have been won by the Redmen over the two service teams in the league, but it's the coming game that will test their ability. This game was arranged very suddenly, much to the satisfaction of players and fans alike, who ever since the rejuvenation of the Grads, have been wondering and hoping to be able to find out, what our apparently strong and classy Redmen can do against this outfit. The answer will not only come, but the winner will be declared City Champion. If ever there was anything to arouse college enthusiasm at Molson Stadium, this is it.

Have the Redmen got the scoring punch? Well, see for yourself. In two games they counted seven touchdowns and one field goal, which is quite an accomplishment in Canadian football. They ripped the strong Air Force line for more than a dozen first downs. There are three first class line plungers in Johnny Dixon, Johnny Poulson, and Brian Little, and a fleet backfielder in the person of Ted Futterer.

❖ ❖ ❖

Can Edwards and Atchison and company be stopped, and if so, are the Redmen the team to do it? We think so. Doug Kerr has shown himself to be a resourceful coach in the last two games, quick to spot his opponents weaknesses and to take advantage of them. That short pass on Saturday for a touchdown, that overcame the strength of the Air Force line, near their own goal line, was a gem of strategy. Most of the Grads gains were due to the backfielders slipping through tacklers arms, which weren't strong enough to hold the runners. The McGill men are a hard-hitting bunch, as the injured Army and Air Force players will no doubt agree.

In addition to all this, the Redmen don't make many mistakes which can be turned to their disadvantage.

This is a game that should be well attended. Last weeks game drew a few hundred students, supported with three cheerleaders, and another hundred or so independent spectators. The coming encounter is surely much more important than the last, and is in fact the most important football fixture in three years. If it could be arranged the band would certainly supply the necessary atmosphere.

Cage Teams Take Shape

C.O.T.C. Plays First Game November 20th

The schedule for the services basketball league has been approved and is about to be released. The opening game is called for tomorrow night, but the McGill C.O.T.C. entry, will not see action until Friday, November 20th, when they face the No. 5 Manning Depot, R.C.A.F., squad.

The teams are gradually rounding into shape, and Coach Van Wagner is planning to use eight men on the city league entry, and ten on the services loop squad.

The leading candidates for the former aggregate are mostly from last year's Montreal Basketball League entry. Delbel, Robinson, Vernon, Munro, and Mumford will definitely be in the line-up. Bert Holdredge has also shown up at practices, but as he graduates from Medicine in January, he will be with the team at most until the Christmas vacation. Ron Wilson, of last year's Oilers, is out with the team, as is Gerry Leonards, who played intermediate a couple of years ago.

NEWCOMERS ON SERVICES TEAM

The services team is composed mainly of newcomers, Evans, Eastwood, Murray, a brother of the former manager, Rosentzveig, from Queen's, MacRae, from Alberta, and Kaneb from the nucelus of the squad. There are several who have not been turning out regularly, that Coach Van Wagner would like to try out for the team. Lou Zalkind, who played for the Y.M. H.A. juniors, Ned Mahon, a member of the McGill juniors in the past, Haring, of the Verdun juniors, Deacon, and Manny Shacter, of the Intramural League, are among these. Johnny Poulson will probably turn out after the conclusion of the football season.

Yesterday, the two squads were pitted against each other, and after the fine showing of the services entry, the prospects for two strong teams look quite bright.

The plans for the city league are as yet indefinite, although it is expected that the schedule will get underway by December 1st. Teams are expected from the St. Hubert club, composed of many Americans, and Pats and Oilers under different names, and Sir George Williams, who have had intermediate city championship teams. A second team from the Air Force for this league is as yet indefiniate.

FRIDAY NIGHTS AVAILABLE

Friday nights will probably be available for basketball at the gym. A projected plan, which would furnish a lot of the play on these nights is to hold a triple-header. Two games could be run simultaeously, one on the main floor and the other on the east floor, with a single game following, on the main floor. As far as is known, Saturday nights will probably be taken up with badminton until Christmas time.

Mr. Van Wagner would like to see anyone interested in being manager of one of the teams.

A certain Freshman on his way up to a C.O.T.C. parade at the school was stopped downtown by an M.P. and asked to show his pass. "I ain't got no pass," quoth the Frosh.

"Well, what unit do you belong to", he was asked.

Brightly the Westerner replied, "Number Three Platoon."

"Very clear—number three platoon of what?"

"The C.O.T.C."

"Well, what in the hell is the C.O.T.C.?"

Unhesitatingly our patriotic cadet answered, "Corn on the cob!"

Army and Navy Clash in Intramural Rugby Final

Each Team Has One Victory to Its Credit

FAMOUS COACH

DR. BOBBY BELL, who returns to the scene of former triumphs, when McGill makes N.D.H.L. debut Friday.

The Army and Navy Football Squads renew their Intramural warfare when they meet this afternoon in the rubber game of their series. The tussle will get underway at 4.30 p.m. sharp and all players are to be on the field at that time. Each squad has one triumph to its credit, and today's match will decide the championship.

Johnny Bennett's sailors took a decisive 22-0 victory from the soldiers in the first meeting, but the latter came back, reinforced by the return of the harvesters and having devised a defense plan that worked, to even the series with a close 5-1 decision.

STRONG ARMY LINE

The Army squad boasts a strong line with plunging Johnny Dixon, Alan Mann, Arnie Tepner and Larry Smith of the All-Stars. Johnny Poulson, Johnny Hall, Bill Powles and Fraser Farlinger give plenty of backfield strength. Bill Millholland plays a lot of outside wing, and scored the decisive field goal in the Army's triumph.

Ted Futterer and Lloyd Williams provide the nucleus of the Navy backfield, while on the line, big Brian Little provides plenty of offensive punch.

On the whole, the teams are well-matched, and a very tight struggle should develop.

FACE VERDUN GRADS

As announced in a special Q.R.F.U. notice, the McGill All-Star squad is now eligible for the city championship, and will play off against the strong Verdun Grads outfit in the nightcap of Saturday's double bill at the Stadium.

The Redmen have an undefeated record to maintain, while the Grads, reinforced by Ted Edwards, Buddy Atchison and Glen Brown, all former Big Four stars, have been burning up the league. While the Redmen had been administering sound trouncings to the Army and Air Force, by scores of 22-5, and 19-10 respectively, the Verdun squad was following a similar trail, only last week they downed the Army by the astronomical figure of 46-0.

This will certainly be the toughest exhibition test for the Kerr Klan, and there had been considerable doubt whether such a match could be arranged. But now that it is arranged, interest has been mounting rapidly.

Coach Kerr will probably start the same winning combination of Poulson at flying wing, Hall, Futterer and Williams, halves, Scoble at quarter, Don Farlinger at snap, Benjamin and Greenidge, insides, Dixon and Little, middles, Patrick and Millholland, the outside wings.

The Swimming Club will meet on Tuesday evenings from 8 to 9 p.m. at the Y.W.C.A. pool, 1124 Dorchester Street West, starting October 27th.

BADMINTON

There will be a mixed badminton tournament on Saturday, Nov. 14 at the Gym. The tourney will start at 7.00 p.m. and last until 9.30, with partners being arranged by the Committee as players arrive. After the playing there will be dancing till midnight.

R.V.C. SECTION REPRESENTATIVES

There will be a meeting of all section representatives, in the M.W.S.A.A. Room in R.V.C., on Thursday, November 12, at 5 P.M. If any representatives cannot be there they must contact Scotty Watson at R.V.C., before that time.

HEALEY WILLAN

Dr. Willan opened the thirtieth year of Organ Recitals in Convocation Hall last Monday afternoon. A tradition of fine musicianship, built up in these recitals over the years, was more than upheld.

The secret of Dr. Willan's technique is the fact that he treats his organ as an instrument of extreme musical possibilities, so dangerous if they are let out of control that they must always be kept in hand. A lesser musician would have succumbed to the temptation of the Borowski Sonata in A Major and used every stop at his disposal; Dr. Willan imposed upon this slight piece a unity of tone colour which increased its power. His effects are always effects with a purpose.

The Whitlock music, a Folk Tune and a Scherzo, are light music of an entirely different kind. Their lightness is deceitful and purposeful: they have much underneath the apparent lightness and the composer gains much of his effect by the mood in which they are written.

Dr. Willan and Bach get along so well together that it is a treat for the worshipper of either to hear them in conjunction. The Bach Prelude and Fugue in C Major was preferable Monday to the Toccata and Fugue in D Minor only because many of us have heard Dr. Willan exceed himself on the latter on previous occasions. He has set himself a record interpretation of the latter which his listeners have come to expect, and they may be pardoned for pointing out that he did not quite equal his best performances of this music.

—Neil MacDonald, in the Varsity.

as he was made out to be. He leads a hard but happy life. Working from daylight till dark, he is very careful with everything he spends or buys.

During harvest time the western farmer is in his happiest season. For most of them it is the only time of the year in which they make money. Their only source of revenue is from the grain which they are able to sell. It is, therefore, with some reason that the farmer is angry when he sees employees slacking on the job by failing to gather the loose stalks after having picked up the sheaves. If at times we were driven it is because the farmer is afraid of the weather and tries to harvest all his crop before the frost and snow spoil it for him. The western farmer must have courage and faith. Each year he ploughs thousands of bushels of grain and cares for it during the whole summer. Yet it only takes one bad turn in the weather to spoil the whole crop for him and thus ruin his greatest means of making money.

The city people of the west are no less hospitable than the farmer himself. We spent two days in Regina where we were enthusiastically received by friends and strangers. All showed a great interest in us and were interested in comparing conditions in the west with those of the east.

this, their general effect upon Montreal will be studied, and some of the great men to have arisen from "foreign" groups in the city will be mentioned.

These talks are weekly events, and are held in the lunch hour; each one being given a different member of the club, or by some invited guest speaker. They are not restricted to members of the club, but are open to anyone who may be interested. In the future, the majority of the talks will be held on Wednesdays, although about one in three will take place on Thursdays for the benefit of those who have conflicts on Wednesdays.

Early Call-up of Artsmen Is Expected

Cody, President of the University of Toronto.

Controversy on the subject arose when it was predicted by L. Austin Wright, assistant-director of National Selective Service, that able-bodied men would be restricted to university courses which would fit them to be technical officers in the armed forces or key specialists in war industry. Mr. Wright made this prediction in a speech prepared for delivery to the General Alumni Association of Queen's University, last October 17.

Acting-president Thompson, who graduated from the University of Toronto Biology Department in 1910, is relieving President J. S. Thomson, of the University of Saskatchewan, now temporarily on leave as general manager for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

the virtual halting of the banana trade owing to export difficulties, and the subsequent unemployment of a large portion of the agricultural population. Thence he traced such relief measures as have already been taken by the colonial office and the Jamaican legislature, and showed how, for a while, the building of the American bases restored the national income that had been lost by the cessation of the tourist trade. However, this in its turn, he said, was followed by a period of wild spending by the labouring classes who were earning larger wages than ever before, and who had not the foresight to realize that their source of income would be cut off once the bases were completed. A few months ago the Americans did begin to lay off the labour that they had been hiring for the bases, and now the unemployment problem is becoming more acute than at any time before. After this he outlined the difficulties of transportation in the island brought about by the fact that all gasoline and coal used in Jamaica must be imported. These imports were now cut down to a minimum as a result of the U-boat warfare in the Caribbean.

The talk was rounded off with a discussion of the educational system in the island, and the problems involved in the conservatism of the educational authorities of the island, this with special reference to the school in which the speaker taught for two years before coming up to Canada.

of which McGill is so justly proud."

Came the rude awakening. The surging hopes of the Annual Board were rewarded by a faint trickle of entries. In vain have they waited. A week has passed since the Harvesters returned, and few photographers have been received of the expedition.

Accordingly, they send forth a plea to all cameramen who went a-harvesting. "'Old McGill' wants prints of your trip West. Free Annuals are awarded to those sending in the best photographs. Your duty is two-fold: save the Annual Board from mental breakdown, and also earn yourself a free Year Book." Entries should be left at the Union Tuck Shop.

ber 15. Ten thousand students honoured their colleague in a procession which was carried out with dignity and without disturbance. At the dispersal, German police and storm troopers attacked the students and provoked further fighting. This was made as an excuse for the reprisals taken on November 17. That day early in the morning, German soldiers surrounded university buildings and student quarters and dragged the students into trucks. Many were killed while resisting. They were taken to the barracks and were tortured. Women students were violated and subjected to sadistic tortures. In the meantime other students were arrested in private homes and at all other universities in western Czechaslovakia. They were imprisoned and taken to concentration camps. It is estimated that from two to six thousand students have thus perished. Many of those who hid, or escaped managed to reach France and joined the Czechoslovak Army there. Later they were evacuated to Britain. Some however, were left behind and were put to slave-labor on the Sahara desert by the Vichy authorities. They are now being freed, it is hoped.

"The attendance so far at the rehearsals has been very satisfactory, but more men are still needed," stated an officer of the Executive. There are no other requirements other than being able to sing in tune.

WAR SERVICE PROGRAM FOR WOMEN

There are still a number of students who have not enrolled for either the Theory or the Physical Education courses required in the war service program for women. All such students must report this week to the War Service Office (opposite the Common Room, R.V.C.) in office hours 9.00 to 10.00 a.m. and 2.30 to 3.30 p.m. daily except Thursday. Every woman student is required to enroll unless she has a written exemption. This is urgent.

JOYCE M. TYRRELL,
Executive Director for Women's War Service Program

Annual Photographs

The following graduating students are expected to have their pictures taken at Jacoby Studios, 1541 Crescent Street Wednesday, for publication in the Annual. They will be taken at any time from 9.30 a.m. to 6.30 p.m. without appointment, except Saturdays. Appointments for sittings at other hours, if necessary, may be made by phoning PL. 1075 for an appointment.

The price, $2.25 (or $2.75 if a finished portrait is desired), is payable at time of sitting.

NOTE—The names of several graduating students have unfortunately been omitted from these published lists. This is regrettable but nonetheless unavoidable. These lists are obtained from the Registrar's Office and are thus the best available.

All graduating students should have their photographs taken. The lists which are published serve as a guide, indicating to the student which day he should go to the Studios. Any student whose name is not on the list, yet is graduating this year, should have his picture taken at the same time as the rest of his class.
